Description

Aside the appearance and super rarity of this marvelous Art Deco clock on first viewing, one can't be distracted away from the condition of the clock which for it's 90 odd years is impressive. This really is a collectors piece and are pretty sure you won't see another even similar any time soon if ever. Impressively large and heavy this has to be one of the best examples of it's kind available on the market at the moment. The temptation to keep it is very high. Dating to the 1930's and originates from France. The rose pink glass casing has enamel Deco numerals making up the dial face with silvered hands. The tick is reasonably quiet although audible. This clock has been fully and professionally serviced and so is in very good working order and keeping good time. We defy the lucky new owner not to fall instantly in love with this awesome timepiece upon arrival. The chrome base is in very good condition with minimal wear, free from tarnishing.
