Description

Superb 18th century George 3rd mahogany tallboy of very nice small proportions in totally original, un-touched condition. It is very rare today to get such an old piece of carcass furniture in such good original condition. All the drawers have cock beaded edges and are oak lined with lovely original gilded brass swan neck handles and brass locks. The tallboy stands on its original bracket feet. Stunning cornice to the top with pear drop turned decoration. As far as I can see not a single repair and no damage apart from the usual little dings and marks you would expect on a piece of furniture over 250 years old. Lovely colour with original finish. This is a really nice example of an 18th century mahogany tallboy. SIZE; 40" wide max by 20" deep by only 70" high CIRCA; 1770 - 1780
