Description

This is an antique butcher's chopping block. An English, beech and teak work bench, kitchen island or table, dating to the late 19th century and later, circa 1900. Wonderfully aged block permanently mounted on a very robust mahogany and pine stand. Displays a desirable aged patina. Beech block offers light golden tones with contrasting teak roundels. Presenting copious character from decades of skilled use. Lower pan tray with solid teak slats affords useful storage. Providing the ideal 3' working height. This is an antique butcher's chopping block. Many years of skilled work has given it the character and patina to enhance any country kitchen and provide an alluring conversation piece. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for use.
