Description

A superb oak crossbanded bureau dating from the mid 18th Century. It has a sloped front above two short and one long drawer, each with brass plate handles and matching escutcheons. The drawers are beautifully bordered with oak crossbanding which continues in an arch above the drawers and around the sloped front. Two pulls support the front which opens to reveal a series of small pigeon holes and drawers with beautifully shaped friezes. There is also a large well with a sliding top that hides three secret drawers below behind a concealed panel of chamfered wood. It is an excellent quality piece with panelled sides and shaped bracket feet. It is in excellent condition for its age and the oak has developed a wonderful rich colour over the years. It has been thoroughly cleaned and gently polished, retaining the original patina. There are general signs of age and use, some old knocks, small splits and a few small repairs to the crossbanding and the bottom moulding but no major damages and the piece is strong and sturdy. The interior is in good condition with a few old surface marks and stains but nothing detrimental and some of the pull handles on the small drawers have been ...
