Description

A superb Art nouveau free standing walnut bookcase of excellent quality dating from around 1890-1900s with leaded and stained glass doors to the top, revealing three adjustable shelves behind and then two paneled doors with cupboard space below. The bookcase has its original decorative copper hinges. There are a couple of cracks to two of the panes of glass but it is of no detriment to this lovely piece of furniture. The key is present and works the top lock. The depth of the shelves are 23 cm.
