Description

An impressive and substantial.....even rare!.....cast brass door bell push c.1900. Very unusual in design with the lower part, and bell push for the "Caretaker".....the higher section has an illuminated sign box with the cut out letters FIRE!.....and a push button below..... A mystery to me....however it was thought by a previous owner to have been removed from some municipal buildings after bomb damage in WW2....no idea where from but similar dual bell pushes are known in Scotland in large premises where multiple office occupants are situated.....there is one picture online with a Police connection. Additional photographs and information available on request. FaceTime facility available. Please be aware that the item is old and antique and study any photographs to satisfy yourself as to its condition as much as possible. While we take all efforts to provide something that is fit for the use intended there may be various condition issues that are commensurate with age and considered part of its history, and are very subjective. However, you have legal rights and Consumer Contract Regulations (2014) still apply for "Distance Selling" if this is not a "face-to-face" p...
