Description

Decorative mid C19th Japanese papier-mâché rectangular tray of good large proportions. Skilfully decorated Japanese export tray of large scale, with exotic oriental decoration featuring geishas or bijins in a landscape setting with a pavilion. The figures depicted in conversational groups seated on benches and standing beneath the bough of a tree and the eaves of a pavilion with doves on the roof. The background depicts a bay and shipping with a mountainous landscape beyond. The black ground with gilded and bronzed decoration, with excellent attention to detail to the costumes, buildings and floral decoration. The rectangular tray with a raised or 'dished' edge. In excellent original condition with one area of minor damage to the lower left handside of the raised lip edge. Very minor crackulature or crazing to the surface, commensurate with age. No distortion or warping. H 22" W 28" D 3" Japan c.1850
