Description

Rare Small 16th Century Bartmann / Bellarmine Jug, Siegburg, Germany c.1520 This is a rare and beautiful example of a 16th century Bartmann or Bellarmine jug from around 1520. The jug, which stands approx. 18.5cm tall, is most probably made in Siegburg (Germany) as the colour white/grey is a typical signature of the Siegburg area. The neck of the jug is decorated with a beautiful executed bearded head of the Bartmann / Bellarmine with a strong facial expression. On the ends of the delicate handle one can see a fingerprint and strokes of the potter. The jug is in a perfect condition and has no cracks, chips or restorations.
