Description

A stunning and unusual pair of antique side tables, dating from around the 1930's. These were most likely made in France, they are of amazing quality and have a fantastic detailed design. The supports are solid brass and are made in the images of sea serpents, with a small sea serpent mount on top of the tables holding the marble in place. The marble has a lovely colour and beautiful veining. These are in excellent condition, with no damage to be seen, and just some minor wear and patina.
