Description

Edwardian mahogany library bookcase This Edwardian mahogany library bookcase was made in the Warings of Liverpool's workshops. Warings later gaining a greater reputation when in 1897 Gillows of Lancaster began a collaboration with Waring of Liverpool until inevitably they become Waring and Gillow in 1903. As this Edwardian mahogany library bookcase is stamped Warings that would tell us that this was made pre-1903. The style of this would be in my opinion one of the last items made as Waring being a standalone company. As all things made by Warings, quality was the number 1 priority and that came above price. This bookcase just oozes premium work from the choice of timber to the quality of the cast brass handles and the door bolts, and of course the fantastic cabinet work. The bookcase has 3 astragal glazed doors in the top section. This consists of a double width bookcase to the right and a single cupboard to the left, each with 3 mahogany shelves. The base with a similar format. This bookcase is made in 2 parts which allows easy transportation to and around your home. 188cms wide at the cornice (183cms wide 71 1/2ins at waist) 50.5cms deep 20ins 220cms high 86 1/2ins Al...
