Description

A handsome William IV rosewood library chair with curved and carved cresting and elegant and unusual curved arms. The chair has carved front legs and brass casters. The condition of this antique chair is very good, the springing very firm and the frame is sound. There are a couple of nibbles to the back legs near the casters. The upholstery is in good used and clean condition. This library chair is extremely comfortable due to the deep seat and perfect angle of the back. It is ready to use as is or to recover to personal taste. c. 1830 Height: 38" 96.5 cm Width: 24" 61 cm Depth of seat: 21.5" 54.5 cm Height of seat: 15" 38 cm
