Description

Regency mahogany inlaid sofa table This Regency mahogany inlaid sofa table was made circa 1810. Elegant sofa tables like this example are popular to be used in classic drawing rooms. Some people use them behind a sofa, but they can be used in places around your home and can be used as lovely dressing tables. Having a cross satinwood crossbanded mahogany top and the usual drop flaps to each end. It is fitted a pair of drawers to the front with the identical style at the back facing to the rear that is a dummy. The Regency mahogany inlaid sofa table stands on end supports with a bowed stretcher. A pair of shaped swept legs come off the channelled end that have cast brass claw toes with rolling castors under. Imagine how much joy you will get from owning this special table. 147cms wide with the flaps up 58ins 96cms with the flaps down 38ins 66cms deep 26ins 72cms high 28ins All Measurements are approximate, whilst we take care in measuring there may at times be a very slight difference.
