Description

This is a wonderful set of three antique English Victorian sterling silver candlesticks bearing the makers' marks of the renowned silversmiths William Gibson & John Langman, London, and dating 1895. Each of these splendid classically style candlesticks features an exquisite oval urn-shaped nozzle on stylish knopped and tapering stems. They retain their original detachable push fit sconces with beautiful reed decoration to the rim. The attractive oval weighted bases replicate the shaped form of the sconces and are similarly embellished with reed decorations to the edges. Each candlestick bears the full hallmarks: Lion passant for sterling silver, the lion head for London, the letter 'U' for 1895, the makers' marks 'WG JD' for 'William Gibson & John Langman' as well as the British Registry Design number 'Rd 273055' and a further registration number '11542'. Provenance: Presented to Ella Sieveking on her marriage. She studied art at the Slade School with Hubert Herkomer and became the first woman Vice President of Morley College, Lambeth. Add a classic elegant element to your dining experience with these high quality and very tasteful antique candlesticks....
