Description

Very Rare Pair of "Platinon" & Enamel Art Deco Period Gentleman's Cufflinks still with original presentation case. Fine cufflinks are in excellent condition with beautifully engraved & enamelled linear design. Crafted from Platinon, a rare metal alloy invented to imitate platinum, these vintage cufflinks date back to the 1930s and are completely original. Each one features a chased wave and lozenge rectangular plaque, flanked by triangular bars in black and green for a burst of colour. Finished finally with scalloped corners and rope borders. Ideal for today's dapper gentleman. They have good and secure links making them a wearable item of vintage jewellery and will make the finest addition to any collection. All our jewellery is sent out in a complimentary gift box via first class FREE delivery. Weight of pair: 8.2 grams.
