Description

An enormous 19th century Chinese porcelain vase painted in underglaze blue with a cockerel, peonies and rocks amongst trees. This baluster shaped vase has a trumpet neck and twin dogs of foo handles. The condition is reasonably good, there is a very fine hairline to part of the body, this is not detrimental to the stability of the vase or its decorative appeal. The stand is in useable condition. A very striking large vase to impose a very decorative impact. c. 1880 Height from base of vase to rim: 24.5" 61.5 cm Diameter of base: 8" 20 cm
