Description

A most appealing Mahogany wall clock with fusee movement. This clock is in nice tidy original condition, the wood is clean and tidy with good colour, the painted face does have some signs of wear owing to its age but nothing serious and it is ticking away merrily. It has a brass bezel which seem all original and covers the fairly rare 10inch dial, it has a small door in the base to start the pendulum. The side door to view the movement opens as it should and has the Camerer Cuss and co details. Height of clock top to platform is 48cms with a further 17.5cms for the bracket. They are quite a well known company based in London with exhibition attendance at a number of important venues. A clock not going to be seen very often at a truly sensible price.
