Description

Photographed as it leaves our workshops following a clean and some tidying of the finish, this cabinet from early 1900s is now ready for its new home. It has inlays around the drawers, which all drop as per the example in one of the pictures, it is clean inside too, again as can be seen in the picture. This most attractive cabinet has its original handles which are a classic Art Nouveau shape and sits on a flowing cabriole leg. A most clean example sensibly priced with good colour and finish.
