Description

A superb example of an early 18thc Queen Ann seamed brass candlestick....it stands on a slightly raised square base....which still shows the core plugs where the brass was poured into the mould...it has an impressive large shaped central knob finished off with a shortish candle socket...you can see the seam which runs from the candle socket down the stem where it terminates at the base....no repairs or soldering and a lovely colour and condition...a real collectors piece..! English. C1700-10.
