Description

A fine quality walnut Altdeutsch Viennese Regulator wall clock, dating circa 1875, handmade in Vienna by a time served master clockmaker. The beautifully proportioned case with an arch shaped moulded top surmounted with a carved pediment. The shaped and glazed door flanked by fluted box columns terminating with shaped burr walnut mouldings and applied rosettes. The case interior veneered with the beautifully figured burled walnut wood in a recessed moulded panel with a porcelain beat scale. The moulded and shaped base terminating with high quality carved decoration and carved finials. The original lock, key and brass escutcheon plate to the door. The two piece enamelled dial with Roman numerals, surrounded by an inner and outer polished brass bezel. The fully restored, 8 day duration, Grande Sonnerie three train movement of the highest quality striking on two blued steel curled gongs, with maintaining power and deadbeat escapement, strike silent facility. The video clip shows the movement striking at 10.30, this is denoted by 2 chimes for the quarter hour and a further 10 chimes for the indicated hour, the remaining sequence would be 1 chime at quarter past plus the ...
