Description

Victorian inlaid walnut backgammon table This Victorian inlaid walnut backgammon table was made circa 1870 In the Victorian era parlour games as well as more sophisticated games were played to while away the hours in the evenings. Backgammon became a popular game to play with family and friends, this brought the requirement for the best quality pieces to show off the owner's success and wealth to their family and friends. Hence these top end tables were placed in important areas of the home. Tables of this type were in the homes of the professional classes and were very much status items. This table has delicate inlay to each corner of the shaped top. The top folds over to reveal the magnificent boards for backgammon, draughts, and chess. Under the playing surface is a drawer to store cards, counters etc. Imagine this fantastic piece in your home and the real pleasure it will bring. 69cms wide 27ins 43.5cms deep 17ins 73cms high 28 1/2ins All Measurements are approximate, whilst we take care in measuring there may at times be a very slight difference.
