Description

This is a superb, compact antique chest of drawers. An English, mahogany bedside stand, dating to the Georgian period, circa 1780. An abundance of Georgian appeal with striking mahogany stocks displaying a desirable aged patina. Select mahogany beams with fine grain interest. Rich russet hues dazzle beneath a wax polish finish. Delightful bow-front form with generously sized top. Arranged as three graduated drawers, each dressed with an inset brass lined lock — key absent. Pairs of circular drop handles sit above decorative backing plates replete with small bows. The drawer fronts further distinguished with cockbeaded borders. Drawer linings in select oak offering wisps of medullary rays. Raised upon dashing, shaped ogee bracket feet. This is an elegant and compact antique chest of drawers. Graceful and of desirable colour and finish, this small bedside stand is a fine example of Georgian furniture. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
