Description

This is a fabulous dining set comprising an antique set of fourteen Regency Period dining chairs C1820 in date and a matching Regency style dining table by William Tillman, Circa 1980. The superb and rare long set of fourteen antique Regency Period mahogany dining chairs date from Circa 1820. The bar back chairs with curved top rails above scrolled horizontal splats. The overstuffed drop in seats above reeded seat rails, they are raised on elegant sabre legs, and they have been reupholstered in a sumptuous blue velvet. The fourteen chairs comprising thirteen side chairs and a carver for the head of table. It is rare to find such a large, fabulous and comfortable set of chairs and they enhance this dining table beautifully. The table is made of stunning solid flame mahogany and is raised on three "gun barrel" turned columns on quadruple swept sabre leg bases which are fitted with brass toes and castors. This table was purchased at great expense from the master cabinet maker William Tillman, Crouch Lane, Borough Green Kent in the 1980s. The table has two leaves which can be added or removed as required to suit the occasion. This makes it a versatil...
