Description

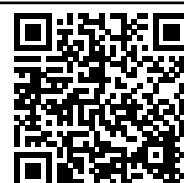

A truly fabulous Victorian Revival dining set comprising an antique set of Regency dining chairs, C1820 in date, and a matching handmade marquetry table. There is no mistaking the classic and sophisticated design of this gorgeous burr walnut and marquetry dining table and set of fourteen Regency Period dining chairs. The superb and rare long set of fourteen antique Regency Period mahogany dining chairs, Circa 1820 in date, comprises thirteen side chairs and one armchair. The bar back chairs with curved top rails above scrolled horizontal splats. The overstuffed drop in seats above reeded seat rails, they are raised on elegant sabre legs, and they have been reupholstered in a sumptuous blue velvet. It is rare to find such a large, fabulous and comfortable set of chairs and they will enhance your dining table beautifully. The table is made from burr walnut which is not only strong, but has a beautiful grain. To highlight the grain, this table has been French polished. A French polish is an alcohol and shellac polish for wood. It takes a lot of patience, but it is one of the most beautiful finishes available, producing an exceptionally high gloss. The table has ...
