Description

This tapestry, which is in a rather impressive 19th Century Frame, may be earlier. We have not removed the back of the frame to investigate. It has some fade in the fabric colours but is an interesting subject, appears to depict earlier explorers looking out over a landscape. The impressive oak frame is certainly 1800s and likely to be early to mid part of that century. It is in good condition with crisp carving. Overall a rather appealing item in nice tidy condition at a very keen price.
