Description

A very large 19th Century English made copper poissonnière/fish kettle. It's difficult to demonstrate in the photos just how big this piece is. It weighs 8.5 kgs and was designed as a good working piece, thus reinforced at the base. The handles are properly black-smithed and there is an indistinct mark (HOT CEC) which could indicate that it was a hotel piece. It is in good condition commensurate with age. It makes a fabulous centre piece. See pictures. We can deliver free of charge in UK mainland. Payment by bank transfer or PayPal
