Description

Victorian inlaid walnut wine table This Victorian inlaid walnut Maypole wine table was made circa 1870. It is exceedingly rare and in 45 years of trading I have never seen another. I can only assume the top depicts revellers using a maypole, or a fairground attraction, but it may have been in celebration of another event in the Victorian period. This amazing Victorian walnut table would have been made in one of the most prestigious workshops, probably Holland & Sons 1803-1942. Their daybooks are stored at the V&A. These interesting sales records show the high-end client base who flocked to them. The solid walnut column that is finely carved with the three carved cabriole legs coming off this. Imagine owning this rare piece and the pleasure it will bring you as you discuss with your family and friends the event it is depicting. 51cms diameter 20ins 73cms high 28 3/4ins All Measurements are approximate, whilst we take care in measuring there may at times be a very slight difference. Delivery We can arrange free delivery to UK mainland; we also have a reliable and good delivery service for single or multiple items to Ireland.
