Description

A rather special example by one of the creme de la creme of retailers, Dunhill, founded in St James' London with shops opening in New York and Paris in the early twentieth century. Made from silver plate, this iconic bell shaped cocktail shaker is in splendid condition having been through my silversmith's workshop removing any imperfections then professionally cleaned and polished. The underside is signed with the famous Dunhill, Made In England together with a provisional patent number and the highly coveted English design registration number allowing us to track down the design registration date to 1937.
