Description

A set of six Irish Antique Sterling silver liqueur tots designed in the form of "Methers" with plain bodies, wavy top edges and resting on four stylish support handles. These silver liqueur tots would cause some curiosity when displayed, would be perfect to use and would make an acceptable gift. They sit neatly in a fitted box and remain in excellent condition. A "Mether" was originally designed as a drinking vessel and was popular in Ireland for serving mead. They were hallmarked in Dublin for 1913 by West and Sons and weigh 6.50 troy ounces (202 grams).
