Description

Offered for your consideration is this truly beautiful and very stylish 1930's Art Deco double wardrobe. The quality in both the timbers and craftsmanship in this wardrobe are superb. The exterior features book paged veneers with the most glorious configuration, something you'll never tire of admiring. A wonderfully warm overall in a honey colour tone with swirls and burrs in a range of chocolate colours. Across the centre are straight grain liner lines which meet to a central circle and where both doors meet. The handles which are two half circles which accentuate the design and really set this wardrobe aside from others, something we know our fellow Art Deco admirers will appreciate. On opening the doors you'll be met with a very generous sized interior which offers full hanging space, perfect for dresses, coats, suits etc. There is also an open shelf top right for any extras that need storage. The base wood and all the internal pieces are made from solid Mahogany in a wonderful rich conker brown. Original chrome rails and chrome hooks inside with a full length dressing mirror to the inside door finish the interior off perfectly. The whole robe rests on a stepped dark...
