Description

A wonderful and utterly charming double inkstand, cast in a heavy metal and finished in silver plate, a good solid desk accessory dating to around 1880 for boat lover or nautical collector. The mustached sailor is paddling it what almost looks like a gondola shaped canoe with the four feet being created from Dolphins. The two removable inkwells are totally original to the piece and have remarkably remained in unscathed condition over the last 130 years. To one side there are two cradles acting as the pen rest, the last photograph shows a dip pen sitting, I have included the modest dip pen in the sale. A superb piece, lovely quality, beautifully executed and in wonderful condition (minor wear to plate, mentioned purely for accuracy). Measuring 9" long x 2 3/4" wide. Item ID: 32281
