Description

Antique silver half hunter pocket watch, 1912. The watch has a stem-winding movement, with nicely patterned plates, which is working nicely. The movement is protected by an inner hinged cover which has a little unevenness and scratching. The watch measures 49mm diameter excluding the winding stem and the loop. The case is hallmarked for London (import mark), 1912, and there is also a sponsor's mark for Charles Nicolet, a partner of London branch of the Swiss firm of Stauffer, Son & Co. of La Chaux-de-Fonds. Examination of the watch tells us that the movement and case are not original to each other, but probably of the same period. The front cover has a small central lens surrounded by enamel filled Roman numerals. The front cover has a small indentation towards the edge, while the back has general light surface marks and a few small shallow indentations. The winding crown pushes in to open the front cover. Inside, there is a glass lens which has light marking from an old sticky label. The dial is signed with the name of the original retailer, A Bolt & Co, Wimbledon. There are a couple of short hairline cracks radiating from the centre but they are quite faint. ...
