Description

A large antique pine farmhouse dining table with a planked top standing on turned legs. The top is a nice mellow colour with a lovely aged patina. Some of the original planks have been replaced with old boards but done a long time ago and it's a good looking table nonetheless. It is a good large size, seating 8-10 comfortably, and a good practical height to sit at with ample leg clearance of 24" all the way around. It is in good condition for its age. There are signs of use and some signs of old worm which has all been treated as a precaution and hasn't affected the table structurally or aesthetically. There is evidence of old saw cuts in the sides where, presumably, it was too large to fit into where it had to go and was cut. It has all been rejoined, strengthened and is a strong and sturdy table. It has been cleaned and gently waxed and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
