Description

Impressive, Victorian berry spoon hallmarked London 1844 makers mark WE for William Eaton Plain, early Victorian stuffing spoon later re worked as a splendid berry serving spoon. Old English pattern with chased decoration both sides of the handle. An unusual piece as berry spoons are usually only found made from smaller table spoons, must have been converted for serving enormous trifle! In excellent sound condition virtually unused, partial gilt to the interior of the bowl. Length 12" or 304mm, weight 118 grams or 3.8 troy ounces.
