Description

This wonderful Edwardian/early 20th century carved wooden model of a yacht's hull is simply crafted and has an untouched two-tone paint finish of light green and black. The deck and the back of the model retain an original finish with a natural patina one would expect to find in a piece of this age. It can be easily wall mounted with its single iron eye fixing, and can be used as a useful general-purpose shelf. English, c.1920s. . . .
