Description

This Edwardian Inlaid Mahogany Kidney Shape Occasional Table uses the lighter inlay to emphasize the flowing shape of the piece so well. The finely tapered legs are inlaid with two Boxwood lines, that combine with the kidney shaped shelf via curved stretchers. The top is edged with a larger inlaid line as well as having a smaller inlaid line inboard, that adds decorative appeal. Of a particularly good shape with good lines, this table stands very well and is sure to attract admiring glances wherever it is placed within the home. The rich Mahogany contrasts so sharply with the inlay, that it would suit many styles of home décor. Presented in excellent restored condition.
