Description

Here is an exhibition quality large antique English Edwardian solid oak 5ft wide freestanding roll top pedestal desk, circa 1910, with a stunning comprehensive interior, in excellent condition. Constructed with an "S" shaped design to the top section, this roll top desk was designed to be freestanding in the centre of a room. The sliding tambour can be lifted up to reveal a bank of internal drawers and compartments. The interior houses 14 internal drawers, 8 of which incorporate label holders. The internal drawers feature their original brass label holders. Set within the bank of drawers are 36 pigeonhole compartments, ideal for storing paperwork, letters and other accoutrements. A letter rack is also situated either side the desk to store letters upright, as well as a third situated to the rear of the central 'cubby hole'. Each side of the desk incorporates the original posting slots, where letters can be posted into the desk, whilst the tambour is closed. When the sliding tambour is pulled down and secured using the original lock and working key, this will lock the top section and pedestal drawers. The central drawer between the pedestals retains its own working lock ...
