Description

A beautiful Russian solid silver oval pot in the manner of Faberge and from a private collection with provenance. In superb original condition, with silver gilt to interior and exterior and silver gilt finely rope twisted wire creating cloisonne cells. . Exceptionally fine quality workmanship, the silvermark "88 zolotnik" is equal to 916 silver and a sign of higher quality, often used by top manufacturers. . Heavy at 62 grams, the bright rich and translucent enamels are typical of the Faberge pallet with ruby reds, soft white, limed and bottle greens, and royal and sky blues. The exceptionally fine silver gilt twisted cloisonne reserves throughout in excellent original condition. . The silver reserve bearing the initials DT, for Dimitri Tiomkin, one of Hollywoods most distinguished and sought after composers. . The pot with rope twist borders to base and rim was probably intended to commemorate a birth or christening and in our view dates from c. 1895 (with family names skipping each generation, it perhaps marked the baptism of an earlier D.T. in this wealthy well educated family). Condition excellent with only fine superficial surface scratches and very light wear consis...
