Description

A charming slim antique Georgian oak cupboard. Interestingly this piece has been adapted from an antique Georgian grandfather clock, with a later top added, probably in the early 20th century. It features a fancy brass escutcheon and beautifully shaped door which opens to reveal 2 removable shelves. The door locks and comes with a working key. Would make a great hall cupboard or would work well in a bathroom perhaps.
Construction/Wood: Oak Condition Report: Good colour and patina. Lots of wear and marks commensurate with age. Adapted at some point from a antique grandfather clock. Some old worm holes to the plinth base.
