Description

Made from mahogany and in the Georgian style, this pair of settees have carved decoration to the arms and cabriole legs. They are a great size, comfortable to sit in and very elegant in design. They have recently been purchased from a private house in France and as such will benefit from a light polish and being reupholstered. The price given is as seen but a price for polishing and re-upholstery can be supplied upon request. Large pairs of Country House settees of this type are very difficult to find and the use of the shell decoration on the leg points to a possible original Irish origin.
