Description

A pair of Antique George V Sterling silver and glass scent bottles which have attractive intaglio cut glass bodies depicting flowers, swirls and leaves, plain silver mounts and hinged tortoiseshell lids with pretty pique work detailing. These important silver scent bottles are appealing to the eye and would make useful additions to a collection. They have been well cared for over the years and remain in excellent condition. They were hallmarked in London for 1916 by Mappin and Webb. Complimentary postage is offered within the price for these silver and glass scent bottles.
