Description

A delightful ladies Art Deco compact marked to the interior with the trade name Gwenda 'Tap flap' made in England with the registration design number for 1931. The back is black enamel with the lid depicting a wonderful romantic scene of a young lady seated on a wall with her beau stood holding her hand. In excellent condition with the compact having a firm hinge and secure clasp which opens to reveal a bright chrome interior with mirror. The powder well in the base is sprung loaded so when you touch it, it will release the powder inside. Also retains its original puff. Free UK delivery
