Description

A good quality small antique Victorian Ash chest of drawers in original finish with turned handles dating from circa 1870. Comprising 2 short drawers over 2 long drawers complete with turned knob handles (appear to be original). It has a lovely deep golden honey colour and hasn't been stripped, so has a wonderful finish which has developed a wonderful patina. It stands on a plinth base raised on small old casters. Would work well as a bedroom chest or look great in a kitchen. Construction/Wood: Ash Condition Report: Good colour and patina. Some old splits to the top near the back and at the sides. General wear and marks commensurate with age. It has an oak trim along the top at the back. Dimensions: Width: 86cm Depth: 47cm Height: 79cm
