Description

We are delighted to offer this wonderful little solid silver tea caddy spoon made by Joseph Willmore in Birmingham, 1807. The spoon is beautifully crafted in the form of a single vine leaf with an accurate and intricate design ranging from the stem (handle) of the leaf to the different textures (stippled & embossed silver) on the surface of the spoon. The centre of the spoon is embossed in the form of a bunch of grapes with its stem conjoining to the thicker vine handle. A full set of minuscule hallmarks are present on the stem of the vine handle. A delightful little addition to any collection whether be it for a display or for usage with a tea caddy and a luxurious afternoon tea experience.
