Description

Late C18th George III period mahogany linen-press of small proportions. Good classical design Georgian period mahogany 2-door cupboard linen-press over a chest base fitted with traditional arrangement of 2 short over 2 long graduated drawers. The panelled doors fitted moulded decoration with re-entrant corner detail. The doors fitted with original brass bolts, working lock and key. The interior fitted with 3 original adjustable height mahogany-faced oak-lined sliding trays with shaped sides, for storage of linen or clothes. The oak-lined drawers fitted with all original cast-brass 'swan-neck' drop handles and brass key escutcheons. Retains all locks and original working steel key. All drawers and slides retaining original blue paper lining. The moulded cornice with flame-veneered banding with carved architectural dentil detail above. The whole raised on it's original bracket feet. In excellent original, as found, 'countryhouse' condition. Retains it's original 'skin' and polished surface which has achieved a good rich colour and patina. H 72" D 24" W 48" England c.1770
