Description

A golden Oak washstand from the late Victorian period. Complete with the original towel rails to the sides of a two cupboard door base, sat on turned legs with it's castors retained. The figured white marble top is in good order and is set off with a very attractive tiled back which displays strong Art Nouveau overtones in their design. These pieces are finding many uses throughout the house and with it's cupboard base and cold marble top would make an excellent minibar.
