Description

A superb Georgian specimen dating from the early 19th Century. The cabinet itself is of architectural form standing on a plinth base with a panelled door and panelled sides. It has its original brown painted finish which has worn and cracked with age leaving an interesting decorative surface. It contains 12 pine drawers, each with a small brass ring pull handle and every drawer except 1 has a glass covering. There are various old linings inside the drawers but they are generally tidy and it is certainly a usable piece. It is in good original condition and displays very nicely. There are plenty of signs of age and use and it has picked up a few knocks, marks and minor splits over the years but nothing untoward and it has a good aged patina. It is strong and sturdy and comes with its original working key. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
