Description

With a lovely mellow colour this early 1900s Windsor arm chair is most appealing example. A couple of repairs over the years and a chip on a leg do not detract from the overall appeal of this chair. An Elm seat and twin stretchers between the legs add to the appeal together with the really clean finish. We don't think you could find a better at anything like this price. A really nice chair for the money. Width declared is on the arms and depth is on the seat.
