Description

A superb top quality, beautifully constructed, useful antique! For the man or woman who has everything! This late 19th century oak combination dentist's cabinet is a truly amazing piece of furniture & would make the perfect bathroom or dressing room cabinet or retail shop fitting. It is very unlikely you will see anything similar available for sale, in fact the last one of these that we know of for sale some time ago in the States was sold for $9,000. The cabinet has been designed to maximise the storage potential for the area that it occupies. The top of the cabinet has rectangular mirror and small shelf. The central section is formed of a bureau with drop down front, a panelled door which opens to an interior with a selection of trays that are mounted on a pole and can move independently and would have previously contained dentists' tools. The base section is formed of seven small and one large drawer and further group of six trays that are mounted to a pole. The cabinet is finished throughout with fretwork detail, applied carved decoration and quality brass fittings. This is an extremely unusual piece and represents a rare opportunity. Make it yours today. Dimensions-...
