Description

Large Georgian Needlepoint . The dog in the painting is meant to be "Bob", a Newfoundland dog that was found in a shipwreck off the coast of England. The dog found his way to the London waterfront where he became known for saving people from drowning, a total of twenty-three times over the course of fourteen years. For this, he was made a distinguished member of the Royal Humane Society, granting him a medal and access to food. The original painting by Sir Edward Landseer was bequeathed to the Tate Collection .
