Description

Elegant late C18th George III period mahogany dressing table of restrained design. Classic late Georgian period mahogany dressing table or washstand fitted with a single 'cock-beaded' edge full-length drawer retaining the original brass knob pulls and a reeded moulding below. Raised upon square tapering supports, the well-selected figured mahogany rectangular top fitted a three-quarter gallery upstand with shaped ends. The soft-wood back-board to the reverse with 'red-wash' detail, a period detail used by the best quality cabinet-makers of the C18th. This practical and decorative table is in excellent original condition and has achieved a rich colour and patina. Minor historic shrinkage crack to one end of the top.
